May We Recommend...

Simonetta Carr has written and is writing a series of books on figures from church history. I have chosen five books to begin our library's collection. Delightfully illustrated, and well-researched, the stories of John Calvin, John Knox, John Newton, Martin Luther, and Augustine of Hippo are sure to come to life as you read these books. They are in the children's section, but can be enjoyed by all ages. If the interest is there, I can add some more next year!

Is your child (or you) afraid of the dark? Have you ever wondered why we say Good Night? What makes it so good if it's scary? In a wonderful book called Why do we say Good Night?, Champ Thornton answers that question for us all. Perfect to read to children, or for anyone, this one is in the children's section.

The Radical Book for Kids by Champ Thornton is a book written by a father to teach his children some of what he wants them to know before they leave home. The target audience is age 8-14, but this book is good for anyone. It has chapters such as, "The names of God", "How to clean your room", "Women who gave their lives for Christ", "How to profit from the prophets", "Knots you can't untie", "Weapons in the Bible" and many more! There's something in there for everyone. You can find it in the children's section, but feel free to take it out to read yourself! I guarantee you'll learn something from this book!

After he wrote The Shepherd Leader, Timothy Witmer wrote The Shepherd Leader at Home applying many of the same principles to the role of husband and father. Men, take this book out and read it. It'll be a good reminder of how God asks you to lead your families. This one is in the Christian living section.

This Changes Everything by Jaquelle Crowe is a book for teens written by a teen about life. An excellent book to encourage your teens to read. This one is also in the Christian living section.

Feel free to stop by the library and take out a book! And if there are books on a specific topic you would like to see, please let me know.
